

AMEND RESOLUTION TO OUST SENATOR-ELECT SMITH

DUFFY'S CASE MAY BE ENDED BEFORE NIGHT

Surprise Witnesses of State Identify Ex-Dixon Taxi-Man

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Jan. 18—(AP)—Trial of John W. Duffy, of Chicago and Dixon, Ill., for the robbery of the Alburnett State Bank on Nov. 30, was near a close before a District Court jury here today.

With Robert Bell, local newspaper correspondent, continuing on the stand for the defense, prospects of a continuance of fireworks over his testimony were seen before the defense rested its case. Bell's description of the shorter of two bandits who robbed the bank, as about 30, short and stocky, and with sandy hair, was the subject of repeated objections by the county attorney and retorts by defense counsel yesterday.

Duffy, who appears 45, has dark brown hair and is short but not stocky.

Surprise Witnesses
County Attorney W. J. Barngrover Tuesday offered three surprise witnesses. All three identified Duffy as a man they had seen in or about Alburnett during the day of the robbery.

The testimony added further to the net of evidence closing about Duffy following his identification from the stand by the two bankers whom he is alleged to have held up and robbed.

Orlena Powers, 16-year-old school girl, testified that Duffy entered a restaurant in Alburnett where she was eating dinner during noon hour and asked what time the bank would open. A. H. Weber, a farmer living one-half mile west of Alburnett, identified Duffy as one of the men he saw driving a Buick car toward Alburnett between 11 a. m. and noon on the day of the robbery. His son, Lester Weber, 16, testified that Duffy was one of the men who on the same morning inquired how to reach the main highway.

Bankers Positive.
Following selection of a jury, County Attorney Barngrover called M. M. Strait, president, and A. J. Schueler, cashier of the Alburnett State bank, to the stand to tell the story of how they were held up, forced into the vault, and robbed of the currency.

Both bankers on the stand positively identified Duffy as one of the men who robbed the bank. They did this in much the same manner as they last week identified J. Roscoe Shomler, convicted by a jury of being one of the bandit pair.

The court room was crowded again today. The jury selected to determine the guilt or innocence of Duffy follows: William A. Leefers, 1535 Second avenue; Joseph Simanek, 1519 South First street; Joseph Moses, Putnam township; J. A. Napier, Springfield; G. A. Strong, Marion; R. F. Kettler, 622 Fourth avenue west; R. W. Cooper, 1532 Fourth avenue; Burle H. John, 811 South Sixth street; Marion Robb, Marion; Theodore Neilson, 1608 North Fourth street west; Hattie Allison, 1846 C avenue; and C. C. Scott, Marion township.

DEADLOCK HOLDS IN LEGISLATURE OVER PRIMARIES

Senate Fails to Commit Itself When Bill is Called

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18—(AP)—An opportunity to try the temper of the Senate on whether it prefers April of September primaries met with disaster today and with a roll call partially completed a move to postpone consideration prevailed.

When the consideration of the bill was postponed it had four less than the constitutional number of votes necessary for passage.

The bill under consideration provided for the nomination of the members of the general assembly in April.

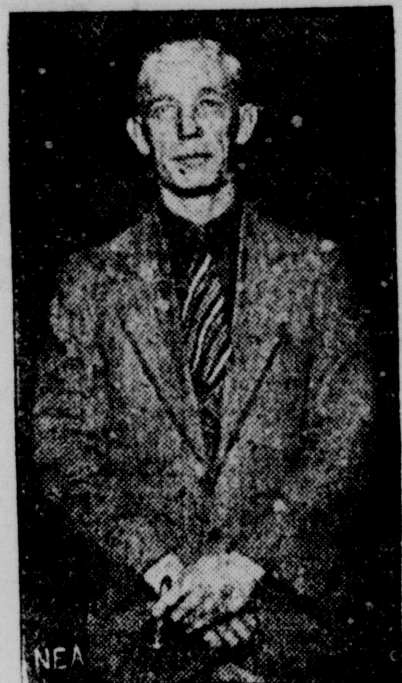

No Change of Front.

No indications of a change in the policies of various factions, as to whether the state will have an April or September primary, were apparent this morning as the Assembly prepared to again take up its work of forming new primary legislation.

The last word was uttered by Governor Len Small last night when he said that he had not receded from his original stand, which was in favor of April primaries. He was, apparently, unswayed by conferences.

GAVE TIP

Sheldon Robinson, carpenter of Mt. Morris, Mich., is credited by Flint police with giving the tip that led to Adolph Hotelling's arrest. Robinson's suspicions were aroused by the remarks of a friend, and he telephoned a deputy sheriff, who went at once to Hotelling's home.

BODIES OF THREE YOUTHS FOUND IN CHICAGO SUBURBS

Officers Fail to Connect Them With Any Bootleggers Gang

Chicago, Jan. 18—(AP)—The bodies of three young men, apparently "taken for a ride" by gangsters, were found alongside the road between Chicago Heights and Steger, south of Chicago, today.

None of the three could be identified as bootleggers or gangsters, but the police expressed the opinion that they had been put out of the way when they tried to "cut in on the liquor selling racket."

They were:
Joseph Taso, 25, teamster, shot four or five times through the head.
Joseph Cazando, 17, restaurant dish washer, shot four times through the head.

Were Not Connected
Tony Taso, brother of the slain youth, identified the bodies of Joseph Taso and Fuller. He said he had seen them around together, but could not connect them with the third victim.

The bodies of Fuller and Taso were found together near Chicago Heights, while the body of Cazando was found alongside the road nearer Steger.

Cazando's body was found just over the line in Will county of which Joliet is the seat, but it was taken with the others to a Chicago Heights undertaking establishment.

The bodies of Taso and Fuller were found by A. Fischer, employee of the Public Service Company of Illinois, while he was en route to work in.

MURDERER OF CHILD DENIED VENUE CHANGE

Life Imprisonment is Facing Deacon Who Kidnaped Girl

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 18—(AP)—Adolph Hotelling, slayer of five-year-old Dorothy Schneider, of Mt. Morris, Mich., was taken this morning from the reformatory at Ionia, by Sheriff Frank Green of Genesee county, presumably to be hurried back to that county for a circuit court appearance, according to word received here from Ionia shortly after noon today.

A court order signed by Circuit Judge Fred W. Brennan, of Genesee county, Flint, calling for the transfer of Hotelling from the reformatory to Genesee County, was served on the prison officers by Sheriff Green.

A change of venue cannot be granted Hotelling, Judge Brennan said today. He asserted it is up to the county to protect the prisoner who, in his belief, must make his plea here. Should Hotelling plead not guilty and demand a trial, a change of venue might then properly be sought, the judge said.

Governor Angry
Gov. Green was indignant when notified of the judge's stand and declared it would be foolhardy to invite more rioting by the prisoner's presence here. He planned to confer with Attorney General W. W. Potter at Lansing today regarding steps to be taken to prevent trial in Genesee county.

If a motion for a change of venue was granted, the executive had planned to have the defendant brought to trial immediately, either at Lansing or Ionia. An agreement was reached yesterday whereby attorneys for Hotelling would enter a plea of guilty and accept a life imprisonment penalty. Capital punishment does not obtain in Michigan. State attorneys, according to Gov. Green, would examine Hotelling later and in event they determined he was of unsound mind, an order for his transfer from prison to a state institution for insane would be issued.

Impromptu Court
Hotelling was secretly taken from the state reformatory at Ionia yesterday to a place just over the Genesee county line and arraigned before an impromptu justice court in a farm yard. The action, based on a legal technicality to pave the way for the change of venue petition, required only a few minutes after which the prisoner was spirited back to the reformatory. Hotelling stood mute and no plea was entered for him.

Aged Resident of Lee County Called

John Foss, an aged and respected citizen passed away January 16th, 1928, at the home of his son, John Foss, Jr., near Walnut. Mr. Foss, a native of Mecklenburg, Germany was born November 15th, 1840, and came to the United States in 1870, locating on a farm in Lee County, where he resided a number of years.

About twenty years ago he moved to Greene county, Iowa, where he bought a large farm and operated it until forced to retire on account of the infirmities of old age.

Mr. Foss was 87 years, 2 months and 1 day of age, and for one of his advanced years was exceptionally keen and alert. His friends were legion.

He was a devout member of the Lutheran church. Brief funeral services were held Tuesday at his son's home after which the remains were brought to Dixon and taken to Jefferson, Ia., for interment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Foss and Mrs. George Albrecht accompanied the remains. Mrs. S. M. Hinds of Dixon is a granddaughter of the deceased.

Polo Woman Died Before Noon Today

Polo, Jan. 18—Mrs. Alice J. Rowland passed away at her home here this morning at 11:30, death relieving an illness of several years duration. She was born September 5, 1873, at Wellsville, N. Y., and was the daughter of Albert O. and Emily Miller. She came to Polo in 1893 where she has since made her home.

On September 27, 1912, she was united in marriage to Allen Rowland who survives her with one daughter Faith and a sister, Mrs. Ray Schrock of Dixon. Funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Methodist church, Rev. Frank Hancock officiating and with interment in Fairmount cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Butterfield and son, Benny, are spending a few days in Chicago before departing for Los Angeles, Cal., where they will make their future home.

THE CROWD THAT WANTED TO LYNCH GIRL'S SLAYER

The crowds that surrounded the Flint (Mich.) jail after Adolph Hotelling was arrested for the murder of Dorothy Schneider were orderly at first, but later became so unruly that Hotelling had to be spirited away and a state militia had to be summoned. This picture, taken as the crowd was gathering, shows the scene in front of the jail during the evening, with armed officers mixing with the crowd to preserve order.

STATE HIGHWAY POLICEMAN HURT IN AUTO WRECK

Lenox and Roberts in Car Struck by Big Chicago Auto

Sam Williams, driving a Cadillac touring car in which several men passengers were being transported from Chicago to Omaha, crashed into a Ford sedan at 1:30 this morning at the junctions of routes 2 and 6 in the east end of the city, badly damaging both machines. Fortunately none of the occupants of either of the two cars was seriously injured, but both machines were so badly wrecked that they had to be hauled to a garage to undergo extensive repairs.

State Highway Police Harold Lenox and Hal Roberts sustained slight injuries and a general shaking up, one wheel and a fender being torn from the Ford sedan owned by the former, in which they were riding. The front end was torn from beneath the heavier car as it climbed the curb and ran across a lot. Williams was placed under arrest and the police patrol carried the parties to the station where Police Magistrate A. E. Simonson assessed a fine of $10 and costs against Williams, who also paid the damages to the Ford sedan.

Officers Injured.
The two state highway police officers were engaged in weighing trucks near the Vickery garage during the night and had driven to a restaurant about 1 o'clock to get a lunch. They were returning in Officer Lenox' car when the Cadillac touring car, which was said to be coming into Dixon on the Lincoln Highway at a high rate of speed, crashed into the officer's machine. Officer Roberts sustained contusions about the body and Officer Lenox suffered minor cuts and bruises when both were thrown from their seats and were struck by the heavy weighing scales which were being transported in their car. Both were able.

FINGERPRINTS OF SUSPECT IN CASE ARE "NOT"

Charges Against Doris Kirk for Murder Collapse

Chicago, Jan. 18—(AP)—Doris Kirk's fingerprints, upon which police sought to connect her with the Betty Chambers murder, have disappeared, if, indeed, they ever existed.

When the former church organist was arrested two days ago police said her fingerprints corresponded with those found on adhesive tape bound about the mouth and nose of the slain woman. The revelation is now made by Dr. Joseph Springer, police criminologist, that there are no fingerprints at all on the tape.

This development favorable to the accused young woman had no duplicate in the case of her husband, James Kirk, jointly charged with her. Mrs. Hattie Oleson appeared at police headquarters and identified Kirk as her husband and demanded an opportunity to place a bigamy charge against him.

Apparent collapse of the fingerprint evidence has given impetus to the police search for the slain woman's husband, Gordon Chambers, with whom she quarrelled a few days before her death.

High Spots In The Day's News On A. P. Wire

DURKIN HAD KNIFE

Chicago—Martin Durkin, one of the most notorious and picturesque of a long list of Chicago gunmen, was handcuffed to the bars of his penitentiary cell today, following discovery in his possession of a long knife, fashioned from a file.

Durkin is serving a 35 year sentence for murder.

HUNT LOST AVIATOR

Salt Lake City—Search of the barren Utah-Idaho border country today was the objective of a squadron of eleven airplanes assigned to hunt for Fred Hoyt, Kansas aviator who was lost Saturday in a blizzard.

Lieutenant Russell Maughan, "down-to-earth" Transcontinental flyer who is commanding the squadron, today ordered flights over the neighboring towns of Rupert and Declo, Idaho, following reports two planes were sighted over that section Saturday.

PIRATES KILL MATE

Hongkong—The British mate of a Chinese steamer was killed when it was attacked by Chinese pirates while en route from Hongkong to Hong-moon, 50 miles south of Canton. All other Europeans aboard were wounded, except Captain Sparks and a Portuguese chief engineer. Two Indians were killed.

SEES CHURCH UNION

New York—Bishop William T. Manning, Episcopal, believes that the movement for the reunion of christendom cannot be stopped, despite the recent papal encyclical opposing the movement.

"No utterance can or will stop or retard that great movement," he said, addressing the churchwomen's league for patriotic service at the home of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid. "It is going on and Christians all over the world, Catholic and Protestant, are drawing nearer to each other."

LOUISIANA PRIMARY

New Orleans—With approximately one-half of the precincts in the state reported early today from yesterday's primary, indications were that Congressman Riley J. Wilson of the fifth Louisiana district, and Huey P. Long of Shreveport, would be opponents in a runoff primary for the Democratic nomination for Governor. The runoff primary will be held five weeks after official returns are announced.

TO FIGHT INJUNCTIONS

Miami—A determined onslaught against injunctions as strike breaking agencies, to be waged by organized labor during the present session of Congress, will soon have Washington as center of its activities.

Such was indicated in announcements made yesterday by President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, here for a meeting of the body's executive council.

WANTS REJUVENATION

Milwaukee—A Milwaukee author and poet whose identity is concealed under the name "Mr. Schmidt" has undergone a rejuvenation operation to "bring back lagging mental powers," his surgeon Dr. Lewis J. Daniels revealed today.

Dr. Daniels said the patient is a well known writer who has elected to be known as "Mr. Schmidt" to avoid publicity in connection with the operation.

Lincoln-First Voter

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18—(AP)—Charles S. Salzenstein, 89, Menard, died last night in a local hospital. Mr. Salzenstein's first presidential vote was cast for Abraham Lincoln. He was a pioneer central Illinois merchant.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR FUNERAL OF GEO. W. HAWLEY

Services to be Held at St. Luke's at 3 P. M. Thursday

On Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at St. Luke's Episcopal Church funeral services will be held for George W. Hawley, prominent and greatly loved Dixon man, whose tragic death resulted Sunday night from an automobile accident the previous night. Father C. Carlton Story of Chicago and Father Richard C. Talbot, Jr. of St. Luke's parish will conduct the services.

The active pall bearers will be Robert L. Sterling, H. C. Warner, Glen Coe, W. W. Gilbert, Dr. W. G. Murray and T. W. Fuller. The honorary pall bearers will be: E. D. Alexander, L. G. Adams, H. S. Dixon, A. P. Armstrong, W. C. Durkes, H. U. Bardwell, Amos Bosworth, W. J. McAlpine and J. M. Batchelder. The ushers will be Lloyd Spencer, Lester Wilhelm, Dr. L. R. Evans, Gordon Utley, W. D. Hart and F. M. Moody. Interment will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Was Honored Citizen.

A resident of this city for more than half a century and a man whose life has been one of service and devotion to his home, his friends, his church and his business associates, Mr. Hawley's death has brought the keenest sorrow to thousands of friends in all walks of life and all Dixon mourns his passing and feels that the city has suffered a loss which can never be replaced.

George W. Hawley was the son of one of the prominent pioneer families of Dixon and spent most of his life here with the exception of a period of seven years when he was engaged in business in Elgin, Ill. He was Senior Warden of St. Luke's Episcopal Church and gave his support in every way and without reserve to promote its welfare.

Born Sept. 28, 1865.

Mr. Hawley was the son of James (Continued on page 2)

REPORT BIRGER WILL GIVE AID TO EX ENEMIES

Will Swear Testimony of Art Newman was to "Get Even"

Taylorville, Ill., Jan. 18—(AP)—Attorneys for Carl, Earl and Bernie Shelton, southern Illinois gangsters, Saturday will present an affidavit to the Christian County Court from Charley Birger, dethroned gang lord to the effect that the brothers were "framed" when recently convicted for bank robbery. The affidavit will be in support of their motion for a new trial on charges of robbing Kincaid Trust & Savings Bank in 1924.

The affidavit will say that Art Newman, rival gangster, whose testimony before a Christian county jury led to the Sheltons' conviction, testified for the sole purpose of "getting even" with the Sheltons. Birger will say that Newman had told him he was going to "frame" the Shelton boys.

The affidavit was placed in the hands of the Sheltons' attorneys yesterday by Birger's sister, Mrs. Ray Shamsky, it is said. It will further say that Newman declared he was going to "wait long enough, before bringing charges, that no one will remember what the fellows who robbed the bank looked like."

BORAH FORCES ELIMINATION OF A PHRASE

Terms "Not Entitled to Seat" Objectionable to Him

Washington, Jan. 18—(AP)—An agreement to amend the resolution declaring vacant the seat of Senator-elect Frank L. Smith of Illinois, was reached today by Senators in advance of the opening of the second day of debate on the proposition.

Under the agreement, initiated by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, there would be eliminated from the resolution the phrase that Smith, "is not entitled to the oath of office." The Idahoan insisted upon this change because he has held from the first that Smith, having been duly elected, was entitled to the oath regardless of the objections to his campaign financing.

Several Senators had long prepared speeches on the resolution to unseat Smith and there was little prospect of a final vote before adjournment.

Torrent of Oratory

His path to the chair already blocked by the Senate's refusal to give him the oath of office, Smith found the chamber portals swinging against him today propelled by a special slush fund committee's resolution declaring his credentials tainted with "fraud and corruption." Formal adoption of the resolution vacating Smith's seat, expected yesterday to complete his exclusion, was put off until today by a torrent of oratory that covered no new ground but brought out increased animosity. The debate waged around a dozen Senators who divided largely on the proposition voiced by Senator Deeney, Republican, Illinois, that the Senate would nullify the constitution by declaring Smith's seat vacant without first seating him and hearing his own defense.

MAY SEEK COURT WRIT

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18—(AP)—Cornelius J. Doyle, former Illinois Secretary of State, and personal attorney for Senator-elect Frank L. Smith, today suggested that a writ of mandamus was one of four possibilities in the fight to win Smith a seat in the United States Senate.

When asked to explain Mr. Doyle said: "Appropriate court action to that end was contemplated."

As alternatives, he said Mr. Smith might present his credentials at each succeeding session of the present congress; or he might have Attorney General Carlstrom proceed against the president of the Senate; or he might take oath of office before a notary public, and declare himself Senator somewhat as President Coolidge did, when President Harding died.

FIFTH VENIRE IS CALLED IN HARRY HILL CASE TODAY

300 Men Have Been Summoned: But Eight Jurors Secured

Ottawa, Ill., Jan. 18—(AP)—In an effort to obtain one more man to complete the jury to try Harry Hill, Streator youth, for murdering his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hill, the fifth venire of 50 men was summoned into court today, making 300 men who have been called in more than two weeks of effort to obtain the jury.

Thirty-three of the 50 men called reported to Judge Davis, among them being E. S. Bradford, former mayor of Ottawa and W. O. Bellamy, former minister here, both of whom were excused for cause. The first two men brought into the jury box also were excused. Eight men have been accepted by state and defense and three others of the third venire have been accepted tentatively.

Flappers, who congregated about the county jail here, to catch a glimpse of Hill, have put officials of Sheriff Floyd Clark's office to no small inconvenience and have caused the sheriff was forced to a ruse in removing the young girls from near the jail.

Accordingly, he ordered his son, Floyd, Jr., to handcuff himself to the wrist of the special bailiff, who accompanies the Streator youth to the court house for the sessions of his trial, and the two strode out into the street.

Followed Wrong Youth.

Attired as he was in clothes similar to those of Hill, the sheriff's son attracted immediate attention, and it

GRACE EVANGELICAL CHURCH

North Side
E. Fellows St. and N. Ottawa Avenue
Rev. Frank Brandellner, Pastor
A ringing welcome to you.

Revival services every night except Saturday with Evangelist F. W. Deutsche preaching the gospel. The song service begins at 7:30. A very interesting sermon was preached last evening on "Man's Choice." Tonight the sermon will be "Trifling with God."

Friday evening will be Sunday School Night. A sermon for young people will be given. Prayer service each evening at 7 o'clock. Thursday afternoon prayer meetings will be held at the homes of Mrs. Sindlinger, 615 N. Jefferson Ave. and Mrs. Gakstetter, 240 Lincoln Way.

Everyone—saved or unsaved—has eternal existence, but those who believe God's record of His Son and receive Him as Saviour, become part-takers of the eternal life of God, or spiritual life which contains within itself everlasting blessedness of heaven. Taking God's Word at its face value, all who receive Christ as a personal Saviour are the present possessors of eternal life. In these special services we emphasize the need of salvation for all. We invite you to come.

"To as many as received Him, to them gave He the power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on His name."

A church with a message and a welcome for all.

With both democratic and republican leaders of Cook county yesterday, all of whom expressed preference for September nominations.

Mayor William Hale Thompson was to be here today and confer with the Governor, although it was not believed that much will come of the conference.

Three Possibilities

Three possibilities were seen by legislative observers today for the special session to follow.

Some believed that Cook county, by holding a dominant minority, will hold up passage of any kind of primary laws.

Still others believe that the Governor will, in the end, win out. They say that if the Governor stands pat, some of the Cook county group will desert their colors, preferring an April primary to no primary at all.

George E. Brennan's followers predict that the Governor will capitulate and "compromise" on the September date.

Governor Small, as his principal reason for preferring an April primary, cited the high costs of elections. If state primaries are held in the spring, he pointed out, it will be necessary to have two primaries in presidential years, at an additional cost approximating $3,000,000.

A. Hawley and Mary Gardner Hawley were born September 28, 1865. He was married on October 28, 1886 to Edna May DePuy. Besides his widow, Mr. Hawley is survived by two sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Mary Powell of Modesto, Calif., Mrs. E. S. Miller of Berkeley, Calif., Charles G. Hawley, Sacramento, Calif., and Lloyd R. Hawley, Los Angeles. Mr. Hawley's father was a banker in Dixon in the early days and was very prominent in Masonic circles. George Hawley was a member of all the various Masonic bodies and was a member of the Dixon lodge of Elks.

Reorganized Water Co.

In 1916, after seven years in business in Elgin, Ill., Mr. Hawley returned to Dixon and reorganized the Dixon Water Co., of which he became Secretary and General Manager and under his expert guidance the company has become one of the most efficiently operated and one of the best public service companies of its kind in the state.

Among the out-of-town relatives who will be here for the funeral are Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Miller of Berkeley, California, Kenneth Smith of Lansing, Mich., and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Gardner of Moline, Ill. Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Browne of Galesburg arrived today.

WHITE FIELDS—
(Christian Science Monitor)
In the winter time we go
Walking in the fields of snow;

Where there is no grass at all;
Where the top of every wall,

Every fence and every tree,
Is as white as white can be.

Pointing out the way we came,
Every one of them—the same—

All across the fields there be
Prints in silver filigree;

And our mothers always know,
By the footprints in the snow,

Where it is the children go.

Grimes-Lawson Wedding Today

This morning about 10:30 o'clock Rev. W. W. Marshall, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated at the marriage ceremony, uniting the lives of Miss Alta Marie Grimes of West Brookline and Samuel E. Lawson, of Lindenwood, Ill. The young couple were both in tan-colored tulle wedding gowns with accessories harmonizing. She wore a handsome corsage bouquet.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Lawson left for a brief honeymoon and on their return will make their home in Lindenwood on a farm, the bridegroom being a progressive farmer. Both are young people worthy of the admiration and esteem of their many friends. The bride is a charming young woman with hosts of friends who join those of her husband in wishing the young people happiness.

Mr. and Mrs. Kratz Entertained Class

Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Kratz were host and hostess last evening to the members of the Young Married Folks Sunday school class of the Presbyterian church, taught by E. E. Raymond. The guests numbered fifteen, all of whom spent a delightful evening, enjoying first the appetizing picnic supper. The Kratz home was attractive in its welcome to the guests, the supper table being beautifully decorated with yellow candles and for the centerpiece a gorgeous basket of hollyhocks.

A business meeting following the supper and items of interest were transacted and then a happy evening of games and music followed, all present having a most enjoyable evening.

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY
BREAKFAST—California grapes, cereal, cream, scrambled eggs on milk toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Tomato bouillon, molded rice and nut salad, brown bread sandwiches, spice cake, cocoa.
DINNER—Braised veal cutlets, Irish potatoes in parsley butter, creamed cauliflower, spice cake, cocoa.

The luncheon salad is quite novel and decidedly hearty.
Molded Rice and Nut Salad.
One-third cup brown rice, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup boiling water, 3 oranges, 3-4 cup chopped roasted peanuts, 1-2 cup diced celery, lettuce, boiled salad dressing, brown ribbons, boiled salad dressing water for ten minutes. Add juice of orange and 1 teaspoon grated rind and cook over hot water until tender. Remove from heat and add nuts. Work until thoroughly blended using a fork rather than a spoon for stirring. Season with salt if necessary and turn into four or five small molds. When cold, unmold on a bed of lettuce and garnish with prepared celery. Serve with a well-seasoned salad dressing.

Leaf lettuce is carefully crisped and drained and cut in shreds to make the "ribbons."

Red Cross Bldg. to Honor Women

Washington. (AP)—The service and sacrifice of American women in the world war will be commemorated in a half million dollar Red Cross building to be erected here during the coming spring and summer.

Plans for the new white stone building have been approved by the house and senate committees, the secretary of war and officials of the Red Cross and work is expected to start at once. Across the entrance will be the inscription: "Memorial to the American Women of the World War."

The building will serve as a demonstration laboratory in which Red Cross members of all ages throughout the country will be shown the many branches of Red Cross relief work and how such work may be properly conducted.

The building will cost $546,000. Of this amount the government has appropriated $150,000 and the house has before it a bill calling for an additional appropriation of $396,000. The remainder of the cost has been raised by the Red Cross from private subscriptions. The memorial plans were started about four years ago when congress made the original $150,000 appropriation with the suggestion that the Red Cross raise a like sum.

Among the leaders in Red Cross work who probably will attend the dedication of the new memorial after its completion are Mrs. Henry R. Rea of Pittsburgh, first Red Cross field director in charge of relief work for war wounded at Walter Reed hospital here, and Mrs. August P. Belmont of New York, assistant to the war council and Red Cross investigator during the war.

Mrs. Belmont, now a member of the central committee, took up full time work with the Red Cross in 1917, going abroad to investigate relief work in the French, British and American zones. She served overseas five months before returning to the United States to make a nation-wide speaking tour for the organization. Mrs. Belmont made the original plan upon which was based the present Red Cross program of volunteer service.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALFENE SUMNER

How amusing was the impassioned plea for "trial engagements" made by Dr. Benjamin R. Andrews of Columbia University speaking before the American Sociological Society! "It is during the crucial engagement period that the young couple should thrash out the financial scheme of the embryonic household," said he, wisely adding, "it is on the shoals of money that most homes are wrecked, and this matter should by all means be settled before the 'I do's' are said."

That last part is eminently sensible, of course, but it seems silly to believe that engagements are ever anything other than "trial" anyway.

READY-MADES
Women buy ready-made dresses in order to save time rather than because they believe the ready-mades have more style, or because they especially care how they look. This rather interesting fact has been discovered by the federal Bureau of Home Economics. Seventy-two per cent of women who answered a questionnaire as to why they bought ready-made clothes said it was because "it saved time."

Just one more proof that modern woman is more interested in things other than her clothes; that clothes, in fact, are simply getting in the class of one more nuisance of life. This viewpoint is a necessity in a day when thousands of women do their shopping on "lunch hours" just as men have done for years.

NIGHT CLUB LADIES
Running night clubs, being hostesses and "entertainers," seems to be the job choice these days of scores of women of the "upper crust," perhaps, who suddenly find it necessary to earn a living. Not long ago it was Caruso's sister-in-law, Mrs. Park Benjamin, and now it's Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein, widow of the famous opera house manager.

It is human to sneer a bit at what one does not understand, and since "night clubbing" is not within the ken of most mortals we might be inclined to scoff at the idea of it really being work to run one, be a hostess and entertainer. It sounds a bit appalling will earn their bread and meat as surely as any factory girl who counts nuts and bolts 12 hours a day.

A PRINCESS SPEAKS
Perhaps the loving loyalty of Princess Hermine, second wife of former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, is a bit staged for the eyes of a reading world. But I am gullible and read her recent interview regarding the Kaiser with almost a tear. Her loyalty seemed to ring too true to be staged. She stressed the fact of their utter dependence one upon the other, living in isolation as they do. She wrote—

"Intimacy of this type would reduce most any normal person to madness. It would breed constant irritations, but we have never exchanged a cross word."

If this is true, Wilhelm has redeemed no little fraction of his guilt. For it is almost as big a feat to make one wife happy and contented as to please an empire.

Mrs. G. E. Richards Hostess Last Evening

Mrs. G. E. Richards, 504 Peoria avenue delightfully entertained a company of twelve guests at her home with music last evening, followed later by bridge. Miss Dorothy Buzard received the favor for high score and Mrs. Charles Garbaugh received the consolation favor. Everyone present spent a happy evening. Flowers were the attractive decorations. The hostess served a tempting luncheon to her guests.

Thirty-fifth Wedding; Two Surprises Held

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wolf, of Route 6, had prepared to quietly spend their thirty-fifth wedding anniversary, Tuesday, at their home. Mrs. Wolf spoke last week to her daughters, mentioning the fact that she would like to surprise Mr. Wolf, adding as an afterthought, "But he says he can always tell when people are planning a surprise, and he can, too, so I think we'll remember the date quietly." Her daughters listened, and then engaged in plans with a number of friends. The result was a happy surprise at noon Tuesday for Mr. and Mrs. Wolf, a large number of relatives and friends arriving at the hospitable home to have dinner with them, bringing well filled baskets. The daughters, Mrs. Raymond Brechon, Miss Elizabeth Wolf, Miss Irene Wolf, Rita and Mrs. Clifford Poisel, and also daughters-in-law, had assisted in the preparation of several courses, excellent chicken being one course, and there were many kinds of desserts and vegetables, also, combining with many nice dishes brought by the guests, making a fine picnic dinner. The dinner was enjoyed by eighty friends. Mrs. Wolf was remembered by those present with a beautiful fernery which she values highly and Mr. Wolf was presented with a handsome smoking stand, with the best wishes of their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Wolf also received many other gifts from different friends.

A happy afternoon was spent in a social way and as the shadows began to lengthen, the guests departed leaving many kind thoughts for future happy anniversaries with Mr. and Mrs. Wolf, who were married in Dixon thirty-five years ago. Mrs. Wolf before her marriage being Miss Mary Grobe. They have made a fine substantial home, Mr. Wolf being an able farmer, and reared a family of stalwart sons and lovely daughters and have the respect and esteem of neighbors and friends for miles through the countryside and in Dixon and Sterling.

After the surprise of noon and the pleasant afternoon following, the family sat down to dinner last evening with happy memories of the eventful day, although Mrs. Wolf said she did not see why the "girl" were in such a hurry to finish. But they were, and with good reason, for another surprise had been planned for the evening, and it was not long ere the tramp of eager approaching feet made Mr. and Mrs. Wolf look at each other with laughter and wondering eyes. Many cars had arrived silently and the occupants stampeded the home, followed by others who arrived later to enjoy the evening in dancing and a musical program. At a late hour delicious refreshments were served and the morning star had appeared ere the merry company dispersed for their homes with memories of a very happy evening, leaving with Mr. and Mrs. Wolf many good wishes for future enjoyable anniversaries.

AGAIN THE "MODERN" WOMAN—
By Olive Roberts Barton
Life is just one thing after another these days.

Now we have a new one. You have probably heard the fetching little ditty of the gay 'nineties that begins "This is the day they give babies away with a half-a-pound of tea!"

The last word in foolishness! Now in the good new year 1928 it's not so foolish. You need not buy tea to be presented with a fine rollicking baby boy, brain new, whose mother has no use for him.

She wants to travel, to see the world, to have a career. Six excuses where one would have been enough. Like the lady in Shakespeare, "methinks she doth protest too much." "Besides we cannot afford a baby," says the young blond mother.

What a fortunate baby! Would not it be dreadful if unwanted and uncared for he would have to remain in a home with such parents, for his daddy doesn't want him either.

Anyone who adopts him will be the kind of person who really wants a baby, and he will have the love, care and training that his own father and mother could not possibly give him.

Now I suppose it is up to us to go on the mourners' bench again for a lost world. Girl bank robbers, girl murderers, girls who marry and then give their babies away!

"This," say the head-waggers, "is your modern woman. Look at her!"

So we look at her—her features spread large all over the front page. And what are we supposed to make of it all? If these were common ordinary everyday occurrences would their doings be written and radioed all over the world, and pictures be set up for the public to behold in all the news sheets? Certainly not. They are, thank goodness, still unusual enough to shock us. They are not abnormal women. They are merely modern women.

DORCAS SOCIETY TO MEET THURSDAY—
The Dorcas Society of the Congregational church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the church hose and hat to match, while Miss Meyer wore a tan flat crepe dress with accessories to match. Both the groom and best man wore suits of navy blue.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the groom's parents by Mrs. Sylvia Henry and Mrs. George Gehant, sister of the groom and Mrs. William Meyer and daughter Katherine of Chicago. Only the parents of the young couple were present.

Immediately after breakfast the young people left for a short honeymoon. They will make their home in Chicago.

MENAGERIE SCoured FOR FASHION IDEAS—
Paris (AP)—Paris could recruit a zoo from the animals that inspired this season's accessories.

Owls are the newest arrival. They are used as motifs for big shoe buckles, rhinestones and their eyes are made of topaz.

Turtles, cranes, penguins, monkey and little pigs come in for their share of popularity in the shape of shoulder brooches, good luck bangles, handbags and stuffed mascots.

BROWN FOR SPRING PREDICTED IN PARIS—
Paris (AP)—Brown, and especially brown with white, will compete successfully with navy blue this spring, many fashion experts believe. Brown has hitherto been distinctly a cold-weather color but the popularity of chestnut brown this winter has resulted in the appearance of a quantity of brown and white costumes for Riviera resorts. Brown satin suits are having a little success at their own.

TAFFETA FASHIONS SPRING POSSIBILITY—
Paris (AP)—The increased fullness of skirts and the possible widening of sleeves are indications that in spring styles. Nearly every large dress-designer shows some dress of plain colored or flowered taffeta in the pre-spring collections. Afternoon frocks of navy blue taffeta have had a big success at one house for wear at southern resorts.

SPECIAL MATTRESSES FOR REDUCING SQUADS—
Paris (AP)—Special silk floss mattresses, tied with pink satin bows, are for sale at one de luxe gymnasium as the last word in fashionable reducing gear. The mattresses are meant to be placed where milady desires to take her early morning exercises. They protect her back from the vigorous massage of the floor.

NEW WEDDING RINGS SET BAND FASHION—
Paris (AP)—For the first time since the wide wedding band was cast aside as old-fashioned, Paris is wearing band rings. They are usually set with small diamonds or modern women. They are merely abnormal women.

URANUS CLUB TO MEET THURSDAY EVENING—
The members of the Uranus club will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Rosbrook hall.

W. C. T. U. TO MEET ALL DAY FRIDAY—
The W. C. T. U. will hold an all day meeting Friday, Jan. 20th at the home of Mrs. Ella Starks, 405 North Galena avenue. This is termed the Soldiers' and Sailors' meeting and anyone having material which the sailors and soldiers in the various hospitals can use, are requested to bring it to this meeting.

Two Stars Appear In Sunday's Concert
The next concert in the Dixon Civic Music Association's course will be given Sunday afternoon at the Dixon theater at 3 o'clock, and two stars will appear at this performance. Alfred Wallenstein, principal cellist of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and Jose Echaniz, youthful Cuban pianist.

If you want to keep fit and filled with energy, get enough sleep. This is the advice of Jose Echaniz, youthful Cuban pianist who is to be heard in recital here on Sunday, and who has been acclaimed by the critics especially for the fire and emotional expression which he injects into his performances on the piano.

"If there is what the critics have called 'emotional warmth' in my playing," said Jose Echaniz recently, "I know what the secret is—plenty of sleep. Of course one must have technique, or he could not manipulate the keys properly. But skill with the fingers is not by any means the whole secret of piano playing. Many have great 'finger skill' who are practically unknown in the music world. 'To put 'dash', 'fire', 'warmth', 'pep', or whatever one calls it, into music, the player must have on hand a vast reserve of vital energy—not mere muscular strength, but nerve force. And the best method of storing this up is through refreshing slumber."

"I was trained by my parents to get between nine and ten hours sleep every night. I don't get it by sleeping late, however, but by going to bed early whenever I can. Naturally when I play a recital I must sleep late the next morning to get my full allotment. But when I have no recital I am in bed by 9 o'clock at the latest. And if the requirements of travel prevent me from getting my full sleep on any particular night, I am careful to make it up later."

"That is the source of whatever 'fire' and 'emotional expression' there may be in my piano playing. And any person in any other walk of life who needs the same qualities in his work can acquire them by getting nine or ten hours sleep every night. Don't think it is easy—it means all sorts of sacrifice of pleasures. But it pays in dollars and cents."

FASHION HINTS—
NATURE BRACELETS
France now sponsors the "Nature" bracelet—fashioned of rectangles of gold, silver or steel, two inches wide, with birds, beasts and flowers engraved on each.

ELBOW GARTER
A silver lame and blue velvet gown with flowing sleeves of lace has a silver and blue garter worn like a bracelet on the left arm above the elbow.

CORAL'S VOGUE
White and pink corals are the accepted beads for the young girls of France. Sets comprise necklaces, bracelets, buckles and earrings.

SPRING ENSEMBLES
Amber and tortoise shell hat buckles, belt buckles and pump buckles form a new quartet in spring ensembles.

SHINGLE SETS
Shingle sets, consisting of small folding case of lizard or crocodile containing short comb and handleless brush, are a new accessory.

GOLDEN LINGERIE
Golden yellow chiffon underwear, edged with gold lace, is a concession to Milady's vanity that vindicates it.

PASTEL COSTUMES
Worth is making his winter sports costumes in delicate shades of angora and other soft woolsens. Fox is dyed to match the pale blues, greens, pinks and yellows.

OUR 23,000,000 CARS.

To the harried motorist, to say nothing of the harried pedestrian, the official announcement that there are now more than 23,000,000 motor cars in operation in the United States will come as a means for added worry.

The presence on our streets and roads of this swarm of machines has already made our traffic problem one of our most pressing concerns. And when one stops to consider that Ford, General Motors and the other great quantity producers are preparing for banner years in 1928, one is compelled to admit that the situation probably will be a lot worse a year hence than it is now.

What is called for, apparently, is an entirely new method of handling the problem. Expert study, expert advice, prompt and far-sighted action are urgently needed. No half-way measures, such as widening a street here, making this highway a one-way street, prohibiting parking here, and so on, are going to solve the difficulty. Application of the best brains obtainable is needed.

It is time we awakened to the seriousness of the thing and began looking for these "best brains" and putting them to work on the problem. Otherwise, we are apt to find ourselves tangled up in traffic beyond all endurance in the near future.

THE WASTE AN ACCIDENT CAUSES.

Eugene Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, hits the nail right on the head in his statement announcing the Bethlehem's new campaign to reduce industrial accidents.

President Grace begins by announcing that the elimination of waste must be one of the first endeavors of any industrial organization. To date, he says, industry has done well in eliminating waste in time and materials; great manufacturing economies have been introduced, efficiency has mounted year by year.

Thus he sees the waste caused by injuries to workers remaining as one of industry's outstanding problems.

"A man who is hurt suffers pain and worry," he says. "His family loses a part or all of its income."

Accordingly, the Bethlehem concern has divided its employees into groups and is offering a series of attractive cash prizes for the lowest accident records.

It is a good step. American industry, as a whole, is conducted with remarkably few accidents, considering the pitfalls that lie in its path; but the total can still bear reduction, and any measure that will help cut down the number of mishaps to workers is praiseworthy.

PLEASEINGLY PLUMP.

Florenz Ziegfeld, producer of girl-shows extraordinary, recently advertised for forty "pleasantly plump" misses for his pageants of pulchritude.

The secretary of agriculture for Maine, who is behind a campaign to prove to the women of New England that potatoes are not fattening, should read this and change his bally-hoo.

We offer him the slogan, free: "Put On Pleasing Pounds With Potatoes," and suggest that he print it in large type alongside Mr. Ziegfeld's advertisement. That's one way to sell all the potatoes Maine can produce, and Iowa farms which have been put to growing wheat soon would be fine potato fields.

The fad of thin, shadowy ladies has been traced by some historian back to the movie edict of a few years ago, threatening decimation from the payroll of chocolate-fed queens whose dresses puckered up a bit about the buttons. Flesh at once became abhorrent to the feminine young folk from Maine to California.

Now, perhaps the flappers who have been bolting down a pickle and a leaf of lettuce and calling it lunch will start eating their meals again.

MEASURING OUR EMOTIONS.

Psychologists convening in Columbus, Ohio, displayed several machines for measuring our emotions. We are just wondering if the exhibition contained anything looking like a woman's handkerchief. . . . Another excellent measure of emotions might be the stubs in father's check book about the middle of January. . . . A hickory rod in the teacher's desk is one dim memory of the way teacher used to measure the emotions of the pupils. . . . the words "kiss" and "love" raise the blood pressure, the psychologists have discovered. And sometimes in black and white they raise the devil.

Where one sheep goes they all follow, especially if it is a black sheep.

We are no authority on statistics, but the average run of motorists is about sixty miles an hour.

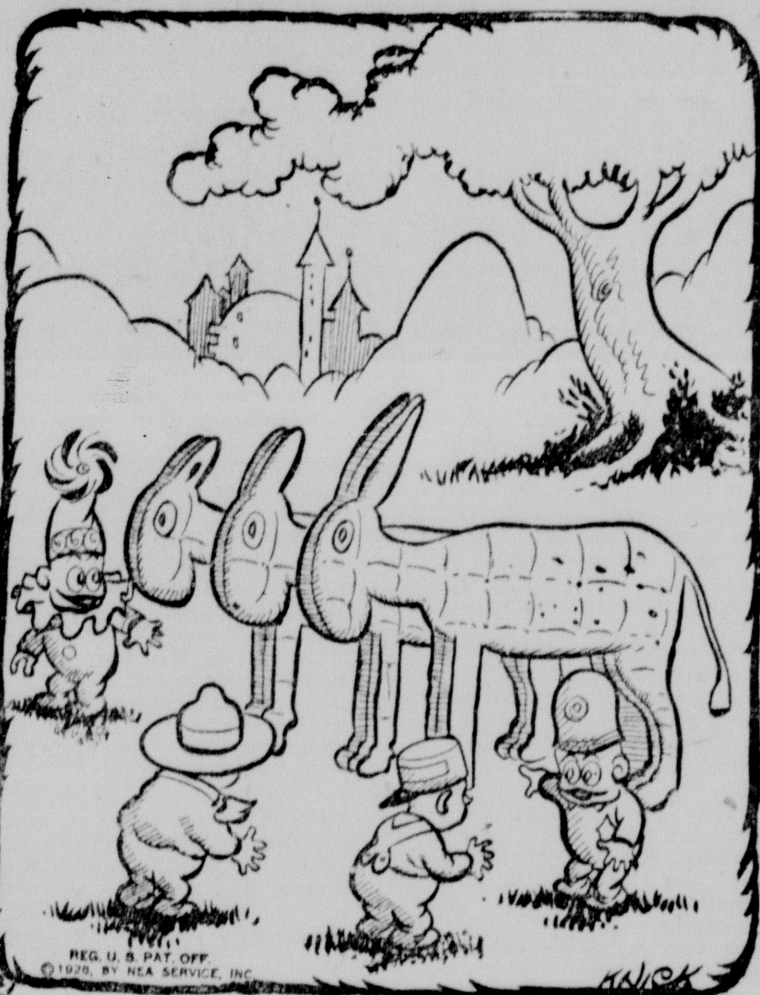

A psychologist says the modern girl is adept at concealing her feelings. Well, the modern girl surely should be expected to conceal something.

Nature balances things. It is hard for a fellow to keep above suspicion when his stock gets below par.

Don't judge too quickly. It is difficult to get the goods on the modern girl—that is, more than a yard or two.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

"If these are crackers," Clowny said, "I guess it's safe to go ahead and eat a few. I'm hungry now, and they will taste real good. Let's all sit down and have a meal, 'cause that's exactly how I feel. We'll eat until we've had our fill—or don't you think we should?"

Then Scouty said, "Well, I don't know. It's rather mean to 'treat' them so. They're very cute and maybe they will sometime come to life. Of course I'd like to have a bite but I don't think it seems just right. Why, it might even hurt them if we'd cut them with a knife."

And so, on hearing Scouty plead, the band of Tinymites agreed to seek some other kind of food. A woods was right nearby. They scampered in and looked around to see if berries might be found. It wasn't long until the bunch heard Copsy loudly cry.

"Oh, just look here! See what I've found." The bunch then joined him with a bound. "What is it?" shouted Copsy. "Is it something we can eat?" "You bet it is," we Copsy said. "It's just a fine strawberry bed. There's plenty here for all of us. We're going to have a treat."

The berries tasted mighty good. The Tinymites ate all they could, and Clowny shouted, "This is great. It's almost like a dream. My hands are stained. I only wish that I could eat them from a dish." Then Scouty laughed and said, "I'll bet you'd also like some cream."

It wasn't long till they were through. "I'll tell you what we'd better do," said Copsy as he turned and ran, and left the woods behind. "Let's go back to our crackers now, and try to make them walk somehow. It's possible they'll come to life, if we'll just treat them kind."

(Circus man comes to the Tinymites' aid in the next story.)

love affair, and I knew that Nils would be my master. And I was deathly afraid of being conquered, and I didn't want to marry him and go with him to that terrible farm of him, 'way off in Minnesota. So I was rude to him and tried to disgust him with me by flirting terribly with Bruce Patton. I knew I'd never be free again if I gave in to my love for him. He'd own me, body and soul, or he wouldn't want me."

Through the waves of giddiness there were pouring over her brain Faith heard Bob's voice take up the explanation: "She was in an awful stew over it and I was urging her not to be a coward, to take love and face life. I told her that no one is free who's in love. Me, for instance! I'm less than half a person without Faith."

Faith did not hear his next words, for she was submerged in a tide of joy, such joy as she had never known in her life before, and she was still too weak to bear it. What a fool she had been! What an unworthy, doubting wretch of a wife for a man like Bob! She stifled the little cry of mingled pain and joy that struggled in her throat, for it came to her crushingly that Bob's love and trust

In her would be mortally wounded when he knew that she had been so ready to believe the worst of him.

"But I still don't see why that should have upset Faith," Fay reasoned. "Surely she must have guessed that you were falling in love with Nils, Cherry, and I should think she'd have been glad."

"Oh, what idiots we are!" Bob groaned suddenly, and Faith thought that he had understood at last. But his next amazing words were: "Cherry, can't you guess? She didn't hear anything about Nils at all! It's just come to me: she heard you crying hysterically over the fact that you would have to take Hope away from her. Don't you remember what you said—something of how terrible it would be for both Faith and Hope to be separated? And how mad about the baby she is. I've been jealous scores of times. I believe she loves Hope better than she could ever love a child of her own, and the thought of losing her was such a shock—of course that's it! Poor Faith!"

NEXT: Faith's despair.

SCOUT LEADERS CONSIDER MAKE- UP OF THE BOYS

Executives of Scout Move- ment Meeting in Convention

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—“Here worship and desire for new experiences, adventure and romance, are the two outstanding things in the make-up of the youth today,” Thomas J. Keane, National Sea Scout director, of the Boy Scouts of America told Boy Scout executives, councilmen and leaders of the seventh regional organization meeting in convention here Tuesday.

“If we are to keep the youth of our country law-abiding and a member of our civilization,” Keane said, “we will have to bring those things into his life.”

“He looks around him and what does he see? Every morning, day after day, and week after week, he sees his father arise at a certain definite hour, eat a hurried breakfast and rush to the factory, the store or the office. There he knows that his father sits at the desk all day, or stands in front of a punch press, which monotonously pounds, pounds, pounds—minute after minute, hour after weary hour. He sees his father return in the evening, tired, bored. He asks himself is this what I shall have to do when I grow up?”

“He goes to school and finds that the curriculum there is all designed to prepare him to fit into this scheme of things, of which his father is a slave. He conceives of life being nothing but a huge Goliath of industrialism, where most men are fitted into small space to spend their weary lives in some small pigeon hole of the machine.”

“He sees that fewer and fewer men are needed to take the leading places in this giant machine, fewer and fewer men are permitted to use their own initiative and thinking ability; more and more men are needed to come into the hard, weary monotonous part of the machine.”

“This picture of life to him looks horrible. It is the very soul of monotony. He asks himself is it not the privilege of youth to dream dreams? To live life romantically? To fill it with adventure and new experiences? Has not all his past experience, the books he has read, the hero he has worshipped, taught him that life is only a place for romance and adventure? And, now—life is nothing but one dull round of terrible monotony. Away with it! He will have nothing of it. He will enjoy life while he can—adventure and romance he craves—give me life!”

“We speak of the revolt of youth. Gentlemen, youth has not revolted. As the years go by and the octopus of industrialism spreads its tentacles over the country, and life becomes more and more monotonous, and less and less romantic and adventurous, there will be more youth revolting.”

“But, what are we going to do for the huge army of young men now existing in this country, and who, year after year, are increasing in numbers.”

“Ours is a country of wide, vast spaces, beautified and revived by its waterways, and God meant that rivers lakes be more than the mere physical cleaners of our country.”

“Here we should send our youth, to satisfy their hungry souls, satiate them with the spirit of romance, so that they may be able to undertake the duty of life, that inevitably awaits them.”

“The Sea Scout Program of the Boy Scouts of America is designed to meet just this situation, by a series of activities that is leading the youth of the country back to the water under leadership of the highest type; where, even though there are some perils, risks and dangers, the training and supervision given them by the leaders has been so splendid that no water accidents of any kind have been recorded during the past ten years?”

COMPTON NEWS

Compton—Word has been received from J. W. Beecher, located at present at Benton Harbor, Mich., that he and his wife will depart from there early next week for New York, from where they have obtained passport aboard a liner for the South American countries. They will spend some time traveling there as well as in Africa, England and the Continent. They plan to return by early spring.

Edward Montavon returned to his home here this week after visiting his brother, John Montavon, at Roosevelt, Minn. John Montavon, who has been gone from here nearly fifteen years, returned with his brother, Edward, to spend a fortnight here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Montavon. He left here fifteen years ago for Minnesota, where he took up a homestead.

Stockholders of the First National Bank held their annual meeting here at the bank building last Tuesday. All the members of the Board of Directors were re-elected. The Directors are: H. M. Chaon, J. S. Richardson, Arlo Gilmore, Wm. Ulch, Fred B. Gilmore, Jesse Fox and Grover Carnahan. The newly elected directors elected J. S. Richardson as president; Wm. Ulch, vice president; Jesse Fox, cashier; and L. M. Corwin, asst. cashier for the new year.

Mary I. Pool passed away at the home of her son, Dr. C. G. Pool on Friday morning at ten o'clock. Mrs. Pool's death came after several years of failing health.

Mary I. Thom, Pool, was the youngest of a family of three, both of whom have preceded her in death. Her father came to America in 1834 from Scotland, and then moved to Illinois in the 30's about the year that Father John Dixon bought the Ferry. They settled on the prairie north of LaMoille and gave the Union cemetery, where she was buried beside her husband, formerly Atty. S. B. Pool of Amboy, who had preceded her in death twelve years ago. She leaves to mourn, one son, Dr. C. G. Pool of Compton, and one granddaughter, Miss Vera Mae Pool of the University of Chicago. Mrs. Pool was a granddaughter of L. G. Reen, a soldier in the Revolutionary and also a granddaughter of Gen. John Thom, who led the Black Watch Scotch Highlanders at the Battle of Waterloo that turned back Napoleon.

Mrs. Pool has spent the last years of her life here with her son, having moved when Dr. Pool started his practice some years ago. She had formerly lived at Amboy. The local chapter of the O. E. S. of which she is a member, conducted the services at the home. Rev. J. Thomas of the M. E. Church gave the prayer. Interment was held at the Union Cemetery at LaMoille.

Due to respect to the late Mary I. Pool, the public school here suspended all activities from noon to 2:30 Tuesday.—L. G. A.

Sputum-Borne Diseases and Personal Hygiene

By F. A. Long, M. D. Madison, Nebr.

(The following is one of a series of articles prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial as part of its Better Health and Longer Life program. President Coolidge is the honorary president of the Memorial, which has been organized and endowed by prominent doctors and laymen throughout the country to perpetuate the work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Gorgas Memorial are at 400 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago.)

Hygiene is the science of health. The word is derived from Hygieia, the daughter of Hippocrates, the father of medicine. The subject is a large one and even the topic, personal hygiene, is too large for discussion in limited space. It is desired to call your attention to heating and ventilation in relation to sputum-borne diseases and personal hygiene.

We have known for a long time that certain diseases affecting the nose and throat, the mouth and lungs, are contagious and that they are carried to other persons living in close contact, as in the same room, and more directly by inhaling or breathing the breath exhaled or floating droplets of secretion coughed and spat out by the person or persons so affected.

We have found out during recent years that some persons having had a disease such as diphtheria or scarlet fever, although they have recovered from the physical effects of the disease, harbor the germs of the disease in the tonsils, or in the nose and throat or in accessory sinuses. What are accessory sinuses? Hollow spaces on the bones of the cheeks and the inferior portion of the skull, lined with a mucous membrane and communicating with the nasal passages.

The bran-like scales of persons recovering from a disease such as scarlet fever, contrary to an age-old belief, are not such a great menace; but the danger from a person having had the disease to another person coming in contact with him is that the convalescent person is, or may be, a disease carrier, that he may harbor the germs in the accessory sinuses, the nasal mucus membrane, and that these germs may be and are discharged into the surrounding air, either by sneezing, coughing, or hawking, or indeed by ordinary breathing and in this way are a menace and a danger.

If germs are diluted with an abundance of fresh air, they largely lose their virulence, or their dangerous properties, for fresh air is one of the greatest antiseptics we have.

It therefore follows that we must have an abundance of fresh air in the schoolroom, in the home, in the bedroom, at all times.

Most people are afraid of the fresh air which nature has provided for us in great abundance. Most houses are poorly and insufficiently ventilated. Many people have an idea that, if they open one window somewhere in the house, that is ventilating. It is not. Some think that if in a sick room they drop the upper sash down one, or at most, several inches from the top, and then pull the shade down, that is ventilating the sick room. It is not. It is not only not; but it is nothing! These well-meaning people delude themselves and their families. Sick rooms, especially those with contagious diseases, need thorough and continuous ventilation for the protection of the well people who live in the same house.

What constitutes ventilation? To ventilate a room or a house it is necessary that fresh air circulate through the house; to ventilate a sick room there must be two opposing windows, or a window and a door open so that the fresh air may pass through the house or the room. It is possible that some who read this never have slept with open windows and have gotten up each morning with a stupid, languid feeling and have wondered what was the matter. If you will open two opposite windows tonight, you will have a living demonstration of what was the matter. In ventilating sick rooms or other bedrooms the precaution must be taken so to direct the current of air that it does not blow directly on the patient or the sleeper, and that can be easily arranged in nearly all cases.

In winter time the need of heating

ANOTHER SLEEPLESS NIGHT

You go to bed dog-tired but still no sleep, no real rest. Morning finds you a rag. One of the first effects of a poisoned system is "nerves"—restless, sleepless nights. The whole thing is traceable to our modern habits of life which put too great a burden on our vital organs, especially the liver.

The liver becoming "dead" or sluggish fails to remove the toxic poisons from the blood, which then poisons the system, weakening stomach, kidneys and heart, causing high blood pressure and undermining health in general.

It is universally recognized that occasionally the liver needs a little help. Nothing is better for this, say medical men, than ox gall. Ox gall is a great natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning so essential to real health. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol. They cost less than 2c each at good druggists, and a few bring new days.

A Mentor for Co-eds

Teaching underclass co-eds how to mind their P's and Q's is the task of Mary Curry, chairman of the decorum committee of the Women's Student Government Association at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, O. O model meal will be served on the stage before a meeting of the association to show the co-eds the proper way of using such things as knives, forks, napkins and the like.

complicates the problem somewhat. People want to heat the house with the least expenditure of fuel, and they do not want to open the windows to cool off the house while shoveling fuel to heat it. But even so a little fresh air admitted to the house, thus providing a fresh supply of oxygen to the dead air of the house, is energizing, and actually makes the heating problem easier.

One of the greatest faults of people is overheating houses. About 65 degrees Fahrenheit is said in the books to be the correct temperature for the living rooms. The writer believes that in the central west where there is no scarcity of winds and some outside air, therefore, gets through doors and window cracks, if the thermometer registers 70 degrees on an inside wall, it is about right. Temperatures of 75, 80 and 85 are positively dangerous, because the air in the house gets too dry, the schneiderian membrane of the nose

THE STORY THUS FAR
Vance, a student of psychology and of crime, has his own theories about law courts and police procedure and he tells them to Markham. The latter is considerably worried over the outbreak of crime in New York. Then the newspapers announce the murder of Margaret Odell, known as the "Canary," a former Follies girl and reigning Broadway beauty.

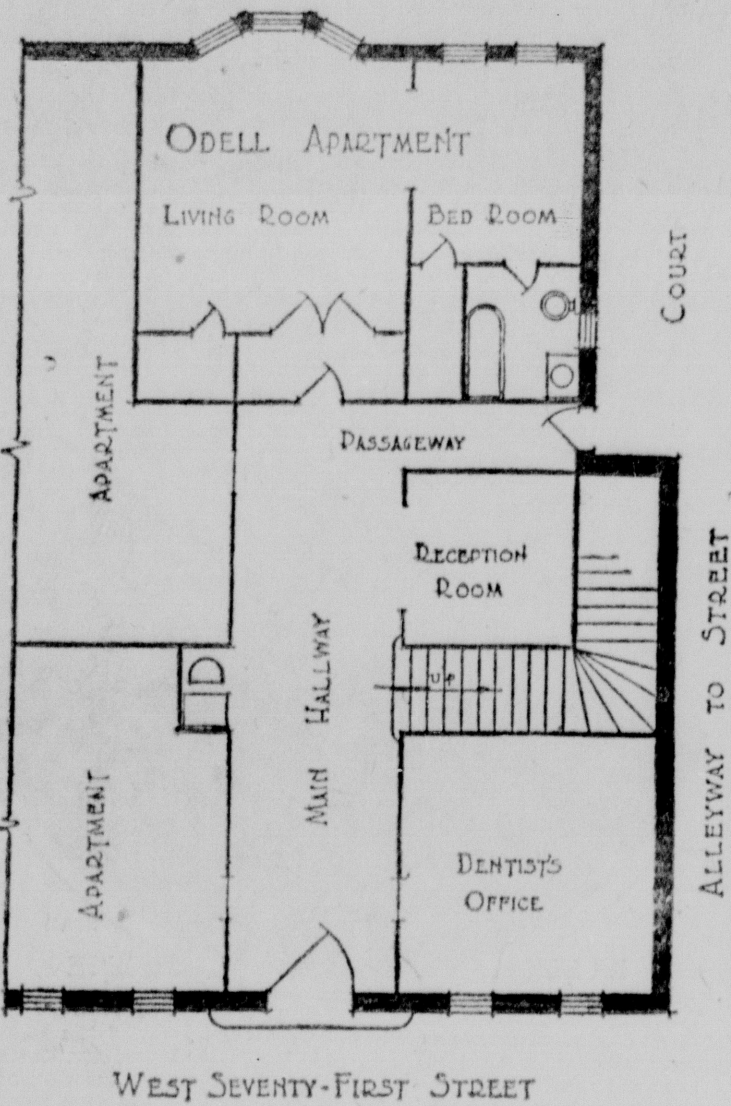

CHAPTER II
(Tuesday, Sept. 11; 8:30 a. m.)
It was barely half-past eight on that momentous morning of September 11th when Markham brought word to us of the event.

I was living temporarily with Vance at his home in East 35th street—a large remodeled apartment occupying the two top floors of a beautiful mansion. For several years I had been Vance's personal legal representative and adviser, having resigned from my father's law firm of Van Dine, Davis and Van Dine to devote myself to his needs and interests. His affairs were by no means voluminous, but his personal finances, together with his numerous purchases of paintings and objets d'art, occupied my full time without burdening me. This monetary and legal stewardship was eminently congenial to my tastes; and my friendship with Vance, which had dated from our undergraduate days at Harvard, supplied the social and human element in an arrangement which otherwise might have degenerated into one of mere drab routine.

On this particular morning I had risen early and was working in the library when Currie, Vance's valet and majordomo, announced Markham's presence in the living-room. I was considerably astonished at this early morning visit, for Markham well knew that Vance, who rarely rose before noon, resented any intrusion upon his maternal slumbers. And in that moment I received the curious impression that something unusual and portentous was toward.

I found Markham pacing restlessly up and down, his hat and gloves thrown carelessly on the comfortable. As I entered he halted and looked at me with harassed eyes. He was a moderately tall man, clean-shaven, gray-haired, and firmly set up. His appearance was distinguished, and his manner courteous and kindly. But beneath his gracious exterior there was an aggressive sternness, an indomitable, grim strength, that gave one the sense of dogged efficiency and unflinching capability.

"Good morning, Van," he greeted me, with impatient perfunctoriness. "There's been another half-world murder—the worst and ugliest this far. . . . He hesitated, and regarded me searchingly. "You recall my chat with Vance at the club the other night? There was something damned prophetic in his remarks. And you remember I half promised to take him along on the next important case. Well, the case has broken—with a vengeance. Margaret Odell, whom they called the Canary, has been strangled in her apartment; and from what I just got over the phone, it looks like another night-club affair. I'm headed for the Odell apartment now. . . . What about rousing out the sycophants?"

"By all means," I agreed, with an alacrity which, I fear, was in large measure prompted by purely selfish motives. The Canary! If one had sought the city over for a victim whose murder would stir up excitement, there could have been but few selections better calculated to produce this result.

Hastening to the door, I summoned Currie, and told him to call Vance at once.

"I'm afraid, sir," began Currie, politely hesitant.

"Calm your fears," cut in Markham. "I'll take all responsibility for waking him at this indecent hour."

Currie sensed an emergency and departed.

A minute or two later Vance, in an elaborately embroidered silk kimono and sandals, appeared at the living-room door.

"My word!" he greeted us, in mild astonishment, glancing at the clock. "Haven't you chaps gone to bed yet?"

He strolled to the mantel, and selected a gold-tipped Regie cigarette from a small Florentine humidor.

Markham's eyes narrowed; he was in no mood for levity. "The Canary has been murdered," I blurted out.

Vance held his wax vesta poised, and gave me a look of indolent inquisitiveness. "Whose Canary?"

"Margaret Odell was found strangled this morning," amended Markham brusquely. "Even you, wrapped in your scented cotton-wool, have heard of her. And you can realize the significance of the crime. I'm personally going to look for those footprints in the snow; and if you want to come along, as you intimated the other night, you'll have to get a move on."

Vance crushed out his cigarette. "Margaret Odell, eh? . . . Most distressing!" Despite his offhand manner, I could see he was deeply interested. "The base enemies of law and order are determined to chivy you most horribly, aren't they, old dear? Deuced inconsiderate of 'em! . . . Excuse me while I seek habiliments suitable to the occasion."

He disappeared into his bedroom, while Markham took out a large cigar and resolutely prepared it for smoking, and I returned to the library to put away the papers on which I had been working.

In less than ten minutes Vance reappeared, dressed for the street. We rode uptown along Madison avenue, turned into Central Park, and came out by the West 72d street entrance. Margaret Odell's apartment was at 184 West 71st street, near Broadway; and as we drew up to the curb, it was necessary for the patrolman on duty to make a passage for us through the crowd that had already gathered as a result of the arrival of the police.

Feathergill, an assistant district attorney, was waiting in the main hall for his chief's arrival. "It's too bad, sir," he lamented. "A rotten show all round. And just at this time! . . ." He shrugged his shoulders discouragingly. "It may collapse quickly," said Markham, shaking the other's head. "How are things going? Sergeant Heath phoned me right after you called, and said that, at first glance, the case looked a bit stubborn."

"Stubborn?" repeated Feathergill lugubriously. "It's downright impervious. Heath is spinning round like a turbine. He was called off the Boyle case, by the way, to devote his talents to this new shocker. Inspector Moran arrived ten minutes ago."

"Well, Heath's a good man," declared Markham. "Well work it out. . . . Which is the apartment?"

Feathergill led the way to a door at the rear of the main hall.

"Here you are, sir," he announced. "I'll be running along now. I need sleep. Good luck!" And he was gone.

It will be necessary to give a brief description of the house and its interior arrangement, for the somewhat peculiar structure of the building played a vital part in the seemingly insoluble problem posed by the murder.

The house, which was a four-story stone structure originally built as a residence, had been remodeled, both inside and outside, to meet the requirements of an exclusive individual apartment dwelling. There were, I believe, three or four separate suites on each floor; but the quarters upstairs need not concern us. The main floor was the scene of the crime, and here there were three apartments and a dentist's office.

The main entrance to the building was directly on the street, and extending straight back from the front door was a wide hallway. Directly at the rear of this hallway, and facing the entrance, was the door to the Odell apartment, which bore the numeral "3." About halfway down the front hall, on the right-hand side, was the stairway leading to the floors above; and directly beyond the stairway, also on the right, was a small reception-room with a wide archway instead of a door. Directly opposite to the stairway, in a small recess, stood the telephone switchboard. There was no elevator in the house.

Another important feature of this ground-floor plan was a small passageway at the rear of the main hall and at right angles to it, which led past the front walls of the Odell apartment to a door opening on a court at the west side of the building. This court was connected with the street by an alley four feet wide.

In the accompanying diagram this arrangement of the ground floor can be easily visualized, and I suggest that the reader fix it in his mind; for I doubt if ever before so simple and obvious an architectural design played such an important part in a criminal mystery. By its very simplicity and almost conventional familiarity—indeed, by its total lack of any puzzling complications—it proved so baffling to the investigators that the case threatened, for many days, to remain forever insoluble.

HOUSTON FOLKS GETTING READY FOR MEETINGS

Confident in Ability to Entertain Democratic Session

Houston, Tex.—(AP)—The city of Houston, chosen by the democrats as the scene of their 1928 nominating convention, has no misgivings about its capacity for entertaining a throng of 30,000 persons next June, although it is one of the smallest cities chosen in recent years to play host to such a gathering.

Four other cities that have entertained national political conventions since 1830 were smaller than Houston which today claims 300,000 inhabitants.

Kansas City had only 164,000 population when it was host to the democrats in 1900. Minneapolis entertained the republicans in 1892 when it was a city of 170,000. Denver was the democratic meeting place in 1908 when it had only 210,000 inhabitants, and when the democrats went to Cincinnati in 1880 they met in a city of but 255,000.

Democratic delegates and visitors to Houston during the week of June 26 will share such hospitality as few gatherings of the sort have experienced, for they will literally be taken in to the homes of Houston people if hotel facilities are strained.

Houston has a municipal auditorium seating 5,000 persons and capable of holding another thousand, on such an occasion as this, in a junior auditorium. If this seems insufficient the city is willing to build a new meeting place to house the thousand full-fledged delegates, their alternates and the attendant throng.

That its hotels can care for 15,000 visitors Houston has shown, and Galveston is only 55 miles away with its additional facilities, linked to Houston by fast electric and steam lines.

Houston is a bit proud of its own record. It has grown to its present size from a city of 45,000 in 1900, due in large measure to its ship canal, completed in 1920. With half a hundred steamships making it a port of call, and with an export tonnage ranking ninth in the country, it has become a bustling modern city with little of the repose of the old south.

Representatives of the Texas city feel that by winning for their metropolis the first national convention of a major party to be held in Texas, Houston has thrust another feather into its cap and brought further recognition of its record of expansion.

OBITUARY

DR. JAMES TODD

Dr. Todd, subject of the following obituary from the Daily Camera, Boulder, Colo., Sat. Jan. 7, was a nephew of Mrs. John E. Moyer, and in his earlier years often visited in Dixon. His mother, whose maiden name was Ophelia Campbell, will be remembered by many of the older residents here. After the death of her father James Campbell, her mother married Isaac S. Boardman, father of Mrs. John E. Moyer.

Dr. James Campbell Todd, authority on clinical diagnosis and professor of pathology at the University of Colorado school of medicine since 1911, died last night at 7:45 at his home at 848 Tenth street. He had been suffering from tuberculosis for a number of years and had not taught for six years but had continued his writing from his bed, bringing out the sixth edition of his "Clinical Diagnosis" in 1927.

Dr. Todd is survived by his widow, Mrs. Edith B. Todd, and by two daughters, Anna Ophelia and Edith Brownfield, aged twenty and eighteen. The elder daughter returned to Pittsburgh last week to resume her art work at the Carnegie Institute after spending the holidays at home. The younger is a freshman in the University. Funeral services will be held on Monday at 2 o'clock at his late residence.

Dr. Todd was born in Shreve, Ohio, on March 17, 1874. He received the degree Ph. B. at the University of Wooster, Ohio, in 1897. After winning his doctor of medicine at the University of Pennsylvania in 1900, he was resident physician in the Allegheny General Hospital, Pittsburgh for one year.

From 1904 to 1911 he was a member of the faculty of the Denver and Gross college of medicine, as assistant in pathology and director of the clinical laboratory, lecturer, associated professor of pathology. During his residence in Denver he was pathologist and clinical microscopist to Denver city and county hospital, St. Anthony's hospital, Children's hospital and the Evangelical Lutheran

From 1911 to 1915 inclusive, Dr. Todd was professor of pathology in the University of Colorado and secretary of the Boulder division of the medical school. Ill health caused him to take a long leave of absence in 1914 and 1915, after which, in 1916, he assumed the duties as full-time professor of clinical pathology. His chief interest in medicine was the improvement and standardization of the teaching of his subject. He wrote a number of articles for medical periodicals, including hematology and parasitology in his subjects. Was Elected Member of Honorary Society

A member of Phi Alpha Sigma and

Sigma Xi fraternities, he was recently elected to Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholarship fraternity, by Wooster, his alma mater. He was a member of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Dr. Todd's book, "Clinical Diagnosis," is in use in most of the medical schools of the country. In his latest revision of it he was assisted by Dr. Arthur H. Sanford of the Mayo Clinic. Already this sixth edition of 7,000 copies is practically exhausted and a second printing has been started.

Dean F. B. R. Helleps, acting president of the University, issued the following statement on Dr. Todd's death:

"In the death of Dr. Todd the University loses one of its highest types of scholars, and one of its most lovable individuals. Under the most trying difficulties and even when his vitality was at low ebb, his unconquerable spirit never allowed his intellectual efforts to flag. He was a genuine student, a gifted teacher and possessed a remarkably fine personality. His memory will be an inspiration both to his colleagues and to his students. We shall miss him more than I can tell."

Scouts Will Back Tenderfoot Branch

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Would-be "tenderfeet", approximately over a million and a half strong, will be included in the younger boy movement of the Boy Scouts of America, Dr. George J. Fisher, Deputy Chief Scout Executive, told several hundred scout chiefs and councilmen of Region seven of that organization in convention here last night. Dr. Fisher gave high praise to Scout masters and executives of the region which includes Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin.

"Scouting is a program of youth," Dr. Fisher said. "It is the greatest boy's work movement in America and the world—reaching 57 nations, that represent 91 percent of the world's population."

"It is a program—the first in our history that is adapted to and that is reaching all classes of boys. Scouting is for the underprivileged, the overprivileged, the rich and poor. It is a comradeship of youth in things worth while. It has a National unity—a national uniform—a nationwide idealism."

"It is so well organized, so well correlated, and trained, so service-motivated, that it ranks next to the Red Cross in times of disaster. A Florida hurricane, a St. Louis tornado, a Mississippi river flood,—there is where you find the Scouts busy."

Dairying No Game of Chance He Says

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Farmers that go into the business of dairying blindfolded will find themselves pocketbook Professor W. J. Fraser of the department of dairy husbandry college of agriculture, University of Illinois, told the Illinois State Dairy-men's association today.

Dairying is not a game of chance, nor a mystery or guess, he told the dairymen. "There is one certain plainly marked road to success in this occupation, and this is to get the fundamentals right from the start."

"Unfortunately, in dairy farming, this vision or fundamentals is frequently hazy, and the road one wishes to travel is not clear. One of the first essentials is enthusiasm. One of the good and practical ways to obtain this is by visiting dairymen who have made a marked success of making money on a dairy farm for a number of years. Like every other business,

Prof. Fraser pointed out, it requires intelligence and persistent study, but the genius of business is not necessary to success. "Success or failure in dairy farming depends upon the man himself—upon his ability to plan his work and his energy to put those plans into operation," he declared.

BODY PUNCHING NOW 'LOST ART' IN PRIZE RING

Dean of Referees of
New York Compares Fighters

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
New York—(AP)—Body punching is a lost art, according to Patsy Haley, tiny dean of New York referees, and there is a very definite reason for it.

In his day as a bantamweight battler, the diminutive Patsy, now white haired, but spry and lithe as the speediest of the present day crop, fought such rib crushers as Kid Lavigne, whom he termed the "best of them all," Oscar Gardner, Joe Gans, and Battling Nelson. And he learned about body punching from them.

"In those days," said Patsy as he perched on at the ring side, perched at the Madison Square Garden ringside waiting to step into the ring as referee, "fifteen rounds was the routine distance and twenty the route for most fights. Body punching was necessary."

Stops Strength
"Slugging to the midsection rarely too kilt before the twelfth round or so. From the ninth about the seventh you could see a fighter being battered about the body gradually weakened until his strength finally was sapped and he was a 'cinch' for a finishing smash to the head."

"There was one exception, of course, in Bob Fitzsimmons, 'Ruby Bob.' Fitz never had to wait until the late rounds to 'take' them after due softening. He was the only man I ever saw who could fiddle around a bit with his left, make an opening and then paralyze opponents ranging from middle weights to heavyweights with a single body punch. But there are no more Fitzsimmons."

Flashy Fighting Now in Style

"Now things are different. Fighters go in to go ten rounds. The public wants the spectacular because fights are shorter and body punching has become unnecessary. Often you see one youngster land dozens of blows to the ribs in the early part of a round only to have his opponent get a left jab working, stick it into the other fellow's nose a half dozen times draw blood and win the round just on the plaudits of the fans."

"It's the flashy stuff that goes today—not the tough, rugged scrapping that the old timers revelled in. It's just a matter of 'grabbing the duke' and the easier the grabbing the better."

In the past ten years, Patsy, who fought all the stars of two decades ago in the bantam and lightweight divisions while weighing only 115 pounds, has seen but a half dozen real body punchers.

"With the sole exception of Leo Lom-ki, the light heavyweight, there isn't a real body puncher in the ring today as measured by the old style, and that goes for Jack Dempsey, too. They just don't know how in there hooking punches to the body, bringing 'em up from the knees, with elbows standing out from the body. Naturally many blows go wild. There is a lot of fouling, and youngsters just coming up are scared to perfect the art."

"Now Lomski punishes to the body the way the old timers did, stepping in with all his left behind the punch, elbow tucked into his ribs, forearm parallel with the floor, crushing straight to the heart. That's body punching. Dempsey is a great puncher, but a 'hooker' all the same and many of his punches have been questionable. There is never any howl of 'foul' when Lomski rams to the body."

TO DISCONTINUE TRAINS
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17—(AP)—Formal application for permission to discontinue trains on February 19, which were discontinued January 1 without authority and then restored, was filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission today by the Chicago & Alton Railroad.

The petition said the trains had all been restored, pending formal discontinuance. They are the Bloomington-Springfield locals; and two passenger trains between Jacksonville and St. Louis. Permission is also requested for use of motor buses between Alton and Jacksonville, and to use the Godfrey cut-off for fast trains between Chicago and St. Louis instead of sending them through Alton.

The city council of Alton has agreed to the changes the petition said.

CAPITAL'S FIRE- BUG CONFESSED, POLICE STATED

Former Psycopathic
Patient Arrested
After Blazes

Washington, Jan. 18—(AP)—An "irresistible impulse" is given by the police as the confessed reason why John J. Fisher set two fires of the series that scattered ruins throughout the city yesterday morning.

Declaring that Fisher, 29-year-old former policeman and recently a psychopathic patient here, had confessed to causing the two blazes, police authorities said he had done so after watching firemen battle two earlier downtown blazes. They said he admitted touching matches to the McDowell & Sons grain warehouse at Eckington Place and Q street, in the northeast quarter of the city, and then to the Lank Woodworking Company at 14th and W. streets, northwest.

Fisher was arrested as he returned to his home after having spent more than two hours watching local firemen and others summoned from out of town to fight the flames he had caused.

He denied connection with the other major fires.

With a charge of arson lodged against Fisher, police continued their investigation today of the other confagurations. Fire department officials said they had no doubt that three of the big fires were of incendiary origin, that two others were accidental and that another was of questionable origin.

REBELS FLEEING BEFORE DRIVES OF YANK MARINES

Constantly Harassed
by Planes: Force is Augmented

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 18—(AP)—Harassed by three days of persistent and heavy bombing from Marine Corps planes, rebel outposts today had fled from the San Albino region. Marine headquarters announced. The announcement was made upon the return of airplane patrols from the region where the Marines are massing for a drive against the rebel general Augustino Sandino.

A combat patrol also reported there was no evidence in the Quilali district of rebel activity. It was believed that Sandino's forces had retired to El Chipote, which he made his headquarters after the Marines took Quilali.

A company of Marines went to Matagalpa to strengthen the garrison there.

Bombs as Warning
The explosion of two bombs is thought to have warned Sandino's followers to leave Jinotega Sunday. It was reported that Sandino left El Chipote stating he would go to Jinotega and that his arrival would be announced by the explosion of two bombs. The explosion took place as forecast. When Sandino did not appear it was believed that this was a warning to his cohorts.

With the arrival of Major-General John A. Lejeune, commander of the Marines, and Brig. Gen. Logan Lealand, and with United States ships daily embarking Marines and supplies, airplanes and ammunition at Corinto, Nicaragua, is assuming the military appearance which it had last February when more than 4000 Bluejackets and Marines occupied all the important cities of Nicaragua and guarded the national railway.

STOP BAD BREATH

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c. All Druggists.

FIRST STORY OF EXILE OF LEON TROTSKY GIVEN

A. P. Dispatch, Held
Up by Censorship,
Finally Arrives

(The following dispatch, delayed by censorship, is the first direct word from Moscow on the exile of Leon Trotsky and fellow oppositionists received by The Associated Press. Previous news of the exiling of the opposition leaders has come through Riga and Berlin.)

Moscow, Jan. 14—(AP)—(Delayed)—All oppositionary leaders of every shade and character have been ordered to leave Moscow and to proceed to various distant points where they must remain for indefinite periods.

In administering punishment, the oppositionaries were divided in three groups—the incorrigibles, penitents and non-penitents.

Leon Trotsky, former head of the Red army and once outstanding figure in the councils of Soviet Russia; Christian Rakovsky, former Soviet Ambassador to France, and Karl Radek, Bolshevik journalist, head the non-penitents, since they abide by their principles. Their punishment is therefore more drastic.

Rakovsky and Radek were sent to Ust Sysslak, a small town far north in the Komi region bordering on Archangel province.

Trotsky in Poor Health
In fixing a place for Trotsky, difficulties arose on account of his poor health, since he is tubercular. Physicians opposed the original plan to send him to Astrakhan, while the government opposed the physicians' suggestion that he be sent to Suedchum, Caucasasia.

Leon B. Kamenoff, once Ambassador to Italy, and Gregory Zinovieff, formerly head of the Communist International, head the penitents, having declared themselves before the entire party as erring in their views and tactics. Kamenoff has been asked to proceed to penza, a provincial city in central Russia, and Zinovieff to Vologda. Both have been assigned to jobs in the state education departments and will remain until the central committee sees fit to restore them to their rights.

The incorrigibles, headed by M. Saporonoff, former secretary of the central executive committee, received more serious punishment. The Saporonoff group were sent to various points in the remotest regions of Siberia.

Compile Alma Mater Songs of Colleges

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Publication of the Intercollegiate Song Book, by the Intercollegiate Musical Council, of which four Illinois men are advisory committee members, has indicated that of the three large universities in this state, the University of Chicago is the only one having an Alma Mater song of its own.

"Today we gladly sing the Praise" is the opening phrase of Chicago's song. Northwestern university has no representation among the Alma Mater songs, and the University of Illinois, is represented by the state song, which opens, "By thy rivers gently flowing."

All three are well equipped however, with football songs, Northwestern with its "Push on Northwestern," The University of Illinois, with "We're Loyal to You Illinois," and "University of Chicago with its "Flag of Maroon" song opening with the phrase, "Join the Chorus."

More than one hundred of the country's largest universities forwarded songs to be included in the book, which took more than three years to compile. Work of compilation was done by Thornton W. Allen, managing editor of "The Musical Courier," for whom publication of college songs has become a hobby.

Illinois men on the Advisory committee of the Intercollegiate Musical Council were Frank T. Johnson, musical director at the University of Illinois; C. R. Pierce and Glen B. Meagher, both of the University of Chicago and Donald G. Robertson of Northwestern University.

SOLONS A JEALOUS LOT
Washington—Our worthy solons in Congress are a jealous lot. Take for instance the other day when Congressman Eaton of New Jersey became so unimpressed of the dignity in the House of Representatives that he referred to the Senate as "the higher body." Came a chorus of protests and the record was revised to "the lower body."

RED PEPPER FOR COLDS IN CHEST

Ease your tight, aching chest. Stop the pain. Break up the congestion. Feel a bad cold loosen up in just a short time.

Red Pepper Rub is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers, and when heat penetrates right down into colds, congestion, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes the congested spot is warmed through and through. When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles, just get a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known.

ALL SESSIONS OF PAN-AM. MEETING OPEN TO PUBLIC

Congress Determines Policy of "Open Covenants"

Havana, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Pan-American Conference settled down to business today, determined upon a policy of "open covenants, openly arrived at."

This agreement precluding secret sessions, set a notable precedent for large international gatherings. The establishment of a rule of public committee meetings and plenary sessions was agreed upon by the chairman of 15 of the 21 delegations yesterday. Observers said that the conference would approve the proposal as there was no reason to believe that the delegations would reverse the action of the chairman.

Flag Unfurled.
The delegates were called to assist today in a happy blending of ceremony and business. Twenty-one masts were erected outside the conference hall so that the chief of each delegation could raise his country's colors in the warm tropical sunshine, letting the breeze unfurl them to the accompaniment of the national anthem of his country. This ceremony symbolized the fraternity of the American republics.

This fraternity, it was remarked, was never more apparent than this year, the first time when all the countries of the conference felt sufficiently in accord to gather without exception for the common solution of their problems. Cuba as the seat of the gathering contributed to this feeling of harmony, it was pointed out, because the republic is on friendly terms with all the participating nations.

The great hall recently completed for the occasion at the University of Havana is the scene of the business sessions of the conference.

Plan Organization.
The honor of opening the proceedings fell to Dr. Rafael Martinez Ortiz, Cuban Secretary of State. Dr. Alejandro Lira, chief Chilean delegate, was chosen to reply to the speech of welcome, as he was the representative of the country where the last Pan-American Conference was held. Antonio Sanchez de Bustamante, chairman of the Cuban delegation, was on the slate for permanent president.

The proposal for full publicity was made by Honorio Pueyrredon, Argentine Ambassador to Washington. It was immediately seconded by Charles Evans Hughes for the United States. This caused some surprise in most Latin-American quarters where the impression prevailed that the United States delegation would oppose such a proposal.

PRAYERS BRING FISH?
Easton, Md.—The power of prayer made Tilghman, a fishing center near here, and broke it, also. With the coming of Rev. Howard McDade, a Methodist minister, and his prayers that the fishermen's nets might be filled, success and plenty visited the island. However, McDade has been transferred, and the fishermen say the fish have followed the man of prayer.

AVERAGE CITY TAX PAYER IN STATE PAYS $25

Does Not Represent Average Cost of Running Cities

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—An average resident of an average Illinois city pays, on an average, approximately $25 in taxes toward the support of his city each year.

This is not the total cost of city government, however. Including taxes, licenses, fines paid into police departments, profits on city projects and other sources, he spends $10 more or approximately $35 each year to keep his city operating.

Such statistics, shedding an interesting light on the financial status of the sixteen leading cities of Illinois, are found in the latest report of the bureau of census, U. S. Department of Commerce.

Illinois cities shown in the report, exclusive of Chicago, include: Peoria, Rockford, East St. Louis, Cicero, Springfield, Decatur, Aurora, Evanston, Oak Park, Joliet, Rock Island, Quincy, Danville, Moline and Elgin. The report, dealing with cost of city government in 1926 and previous years, is painstaking in its delineation of the difference sources of revenue and expenditure.

A study of the report immediately reveals a wide variation among these sixteen cities in the per capita cost of government. No basis—neither the city's assessed valuation nor population—can be depended upon as a criterion for judging the probable cost to each resident of running the city.

Rock Island, for instance, with an assessed valuation comparable to that of many other cities, has the lowest per capita tax rate in the state. Rock Island's status, when compared with that of other cities, is exceptional.

With an assessed valuation of about $12,000,000, the city's tax bill is only $785,000 or $19.47 for each person in the city. The total contribution of each citizen toward government is $32, indicating a profit of nearly $13 per person on city government, collected in the form of licenses and actual profit on city-owned projects.

On the other side of the balance sheet, the same favorable figures are found. While other cities averaged about $1,500,000 as total cost of city government, Rock Island spent $900,000. Permanent public improvements totaling $511,000 were constructed. The city's total debt was less than half a million, and the debt was decreased by 1926 by $107,000.

Springfield represents the other extreme. In Springfield, the cost of government to each person was $32.46 in taxes, and a total of $46.64 from all sources. The city's tax bill was $2,141,000. Total operating expenses were $2,291,000—more than twice as much as Rock Island's. The per capita cost of government—"running"—was $35.80. The only bright spots on the city's sheet were public improvements of $1,674,000 and a reduction in the public debt of $184,000. The debt remained $1,864,000.

Springfield's tax rate was exceeded only by that of Oak Park and Evanston, where the proximity to Chicago was reflected by high figures. Evanston taxed each person $56.57, and from other sources brought the total per capita contribution to government up to $77.

Per capita tax rates of other cities varied, from the $39 of Oak Park to the $23.08 of Danville, Elgin, Joliet, Aurora, Decatur, Cicero, Rockford and Peoria had tax rates in excess of $25.

Other "largest" of the report, on both the debit and credit side of the sheet included:

Largest total debt, Evanston, $2,794,000; among downstate cities, Rockford, $2,479,000. Other cities with a debt of more than two million were East St. Louis, Cicero, Springfield, Decatur, Oak Park and Evanston.

Largest increase of the public debt, Rockford, $286,000. Other cities with more than a $200,000 increase were Decatur and Oak Park. The public debt of Joliet was increased $3,000, the smallest in the state.

Largest decrease of the public debt, Springfield, $184,000. Cities showing a credit were Peoria, East St. Louis, Aurora, Rock Island, Danville, Moline and Elgin. East St. Louis' $5,000 decrease was the smallest.

Smallest amount of public improvement, Danville, $283,000. Cities spending less than $500,000 for public improvements were Moline, Danville and Joliet.

Rockford spent $2,417,000 on city government, largest among the downstate cities. Others with a government cost of more than two million were Peoria, Springfield, Oak Park and Evanston.

Rockford's tax bill of $2,511,000 was surpassed only by Evanston, with $2,551,000. Rockford, however, is more in proportion to its assessed valuation was only $28,480,000.

THE STORY THIS FAR
Vance has his own theories about criminal procedure and he tells them to his friend Markham, who is considerably worried over the crime situation in New York. Then the newspapers announce the murder of Margaret Odell, known as the "Canary," former Follies girl and reigning Broadway beauty. Markham turns to Vance for help and they visit the "Canary's" apartment.

CHAPTER III
AS Markham entered the Odell apartment that morning Sergeant Ernest Heath came forward at once and extended his hand. A look of relief passed over his broad, pugnacious features; and it was obvious that the animosity and rivalry which always exist between the detective division and the district attorney's office during the investigation of any criminal case had no place in his attitude on this occasion.

"I'm glad you've come, sir," he said; and meant it.

He then turned to Vance with a cordial smile, and held out his hand.

"So the amachoor sleuth is with us again!" His tone held a friendly banter.

"Oh, quite," murmured Vance. "How's your induction coil working this beautiful September morning, Sergeant?"

"I'd hate to tell you!" Then Heath's face grew suddenly grave, and he turned to Markham. "It's a raw deal, sir. Why in hell couldn't they have picked some one besides the Canary for their dirty work? There's plenty of Janes on Broadway who could have faded from the picture without causing a second alarm; but they gotta go and bump off the Queen of Sheba!"

As he spoke, William M. Moran, the commanding officer of the detective bureau, came into the little foyer and performed the usual hand-shaking ceremony. Though he had met Vance and me but once before, and then casually, he remembered us both and addressed us courteously by name.

"Your arrival," he said to Markham, in a well-bred, modulated voice, "is a very welcome. Sergeant Heath will give you what preliminary information you want. I'm still pretty much in the dark myself—only just arrived."

"A lot of information I've got to give," grumbled Heath, as he led the way into the living-room.

Margaret Odell's apartment was a suite of two fairly large rooms connected by a wide archway draped with heavy damask portieres. The entrance door from the main hall of the building led into a small rectangular foyer about eight feet long and four feet deep, with double Venetian-glass doors opening into the main room by

But it was not the general disorder that most attracted us. Our gaze was almost immediately drawn and held by the body of the dead girl, which rested in an unnatural, semi-recumbent attitude in the corner of the davenport near east to where we stood.

Her head was turned backward as if by force, over the silken tuft of upholstery; and her hair had come unfastened and lay beneath her head and over her bare shoulder like a frozen cataract of liquid gold. Her face, in violent death, was discolored and unlovely. Her skin was discolored, her eyes were staring; her mouth was open, and her lips were drawn back. Her neck, on either side of the thyroid cartilage, showed ugly dark bruises. She was dressed in a flimsy evening gown of black Chantilly lace over cream-colored chiffon, and across the arm of the davenport had been thrown an evening cape of cloth-of-gold trimmed with ermine.

There were evidences of her in effectual struggle with the person who had strangled her. Besides the disheveled condition of her hair, one of the shoulder-straps of her gown had been severed, and there was a long rent in the fine lace across her breast. A small corsage of artificial orchids had been torn from her bodice, and lay crumpled in her lap. One satin slipper had fallen off, and her right knee was twisted inward on the seat of the davenport, as if she had sought to lift herself out of the suffocating clutches of her antagonist.

SLUGGING TWINS

TO TRY FOR NEW MARK THIS YEAR

Ruth and Gehrig to Get Into Training Early in Spring

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Babe Ruth is going after a new home run record. And so is Lou Gehrig.

The mighty sluggers of the Yankees will report at the St. Petersburg training camp a week ahead of the regulars to prepare for another great spring.

The Babe has his bat pointed for a total of 500 home runs. He has a stack of 416 now which includes a banner crop of 60 from the last campaign. Of course Ruth doesn't figure on corraling the deficit in the approaching drive but he believes in trying for more than last season.

Departure in advance of the main New York squadron is of the twins' own initiative for they desire to get in some intensive practice before the clubs swing into the championship schedule.

Babe and Lou will hitch on to a contingent of batters due in Florida on Feb. 26.

To Start Early
"You can bet your life I'm going to hit more than four homers next April," the Babe said. "If you remember, that was all I turned out last April. I've always been troubled by a slow start and I'm going to see if reporting a week earlier will do any good."

"If I had only hit home homers last April I would have had a lot more on Oct. 1. Not that I am predicting I will break my 1927 record, but you can't hang a guy for trying."

Ruth's earnings last year are estimated at $225,000, including his $70,000 yearly salary from the Yanks, more than $5,000 as his share in the world's series, $50,000 from his movie acting last winter, $30,000 from a recent barnstorming trip with Gehrig and the rest from miscellaneous sources such as newspaper stories and commercial advertising.

Old Marathoner to Try in Long Race

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Willie Kohlenstein, the world's greatest Marathoner two decades ago, has started training for a come-back at the age of 40 years.

Kohlenstein, a brother of the famous Hannes, has temporarily laid aside his bricklayer's tools and donned running tights in preparation for his entry in C. C. Pyle's cross-country race starting from Los Angeles on March 24.

Along with about a thousand of the leading distance runners in the country, Kohlenstein will try for the $25,000 prize which goes to the winner.

The Finnish runner is reeling off 40 miles daily in his workouts. He figures an average of 60 miles a day will be required to win Pyle's coast-to-coast run.

Kohlenstein started running at the age of 17 and during his next four years he captured 19 full distance Marathons. He turned professional at the age of 19.

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—If the Yankees keep up their present pace in pennant-winning as well as in player-purchasing it may be necessary for them to put a "B" team on the field, as some of the colleges are doing. In football, to revive American League competition and give the surplus talent something to do.

They will have the material to do it by 1929, at any rate. The club already has a second baseman, shortstop and a few pitchers tagged for delivery next year or later.

The two-team idea would relieve

Will Ford Fly South With Lindy?

The rumor that when Henry Ford flies to his rubber plantation in Brazil, Col. Charles Lindbergh will be the pilot who takes him there, has been heard frequently the last few days. At the top is shown one of the Ford-Stout metal planes in which the trip will be made over the course outlined on the map. The shaded portion indicates Ford's great property in Brazil.

Miller Huggins of no little embarrassment when his recruits, such as Lyn Lary and Jimmy Reese, start reporting for action and bidding for places on an outfit that looks good enough now to withstand most tests for at least two or three years to come.

Games might be arranged on the home-and-home basis, if the other American League clubs fell in with the idea. While team "A" was engaging the Athletics at the Yankee Stadium, team "B" would oppose the Philadelphia seconds at Shibe Park, or Huggins might split up his first string nine and put Gehrig or Ruth with team "B" occasionally to attract the customers.

To offer a further alternative, Huggins might borrow the Notre Dame system, starting his second string team as shock troops and rushing in the regulars when the reserves appeared to be weakening. It would be an interesting sight to see Ruth, Gehrig, Lazzeri, Meusel and the rest of the regulars dash out of the dug-out, along about the fifth inning, and swing into action against a visiting aggregation that had been finding holes in the defense put up by Larry Reese, Giacella, Paschal and the other reservists.

Now that the Yankees and Giants have dipped into the player market with a few startling gestures every club in either major league has something to show for a record-breaking winter season of dealing.

The Giants had to put their foremost star on the market before doing business with any of their rival clubs and even then, it seems, most of them shied at the idea of making a deal for Hornsby. When Boston finally landed the famous second baseman it is probable that Judge Fuchs and the other Hub officials expected to wake up the next day and find out it was all a dream.

It has been a wide open season for dealing in infield ivory. Most of the big minor league purchases have involved inner workers, such as Cissell, who cost the White Sox the equivalent of $123,000, and the Oakland pair, Larry and Reese, bought by the Yankees for a reported $150,000. The sale of Sisler to Washington by the Browns, trading of Hornsby, transfer of Bancroft from Boston to Brooklyn and shift of LuBlue from Detroit to St. Louis, added to the big parade. Just for variety the Browns sold or traded a complete set of outfielders, Bing Miller going to the Athletics

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

BRAVES PROMISE TO GIVE TUSSLE TO BEST IN 1928

Can Put Entire Team of 300 Hitters in Field This Year

Boston, Jan. 18.—(AP)—"The best baseball team we've had in the six years I have been in Boston," is the way President Paul E. Fuchs regards his 1928 Boston Braves baseball machine which gets under way next month with a new driver at the wheel in the person of Manager Jack Slatery.

At the same time an integral part of the machine destined to furnish the necessary spark to pull it out of an habitual second division rut is believed to have been acquired in the season's outstanding deal which brought Rogers Hornsby to Boston from the Giants to captain the Tribe at second base.

For the rest, the squad will shape up as mostly veteran with one or two promising additions to a pitching staff which last year suffered for lack of an outstanding left-hander. Johnny Cooney, veteran southpaw who underwent an operation on his left elbow, will attempt a comeback, while among the new additions are Ed Brandt, a big left-hander from Seattle, and Art Delaney, formerly of Oakland. The veterans include Kent Greenfield, Joe Genewich, B. Smith, Charlie Robertson and Henry Wertz.

Need Backstop.
A gaping hole appears at present at the other end of the pitcher's alley due to the departure of Francis Hogan, regular backstop, who went to the Giants with outfielder Jimmy Welsh. A replacement in the form of "an experienced big league catcher" is promised soon, however, to bolster a catching department at present headed by Luke Urban, former Boston College star, who came to the Braves from the Giants.

Dick Burrus, slugging first baseman, who led the tribe with a .318 average last year, again is on deck. With an understudy about to be groomed in the person of big Ed Brown, 6 foot 3 outfielder, whose weakening throwing arm but otherwise healthy baseball attributes decided Manager Slatery in an attempt to make an infielder out of him.

With the coming of Hornsby, the Braves now consider they have a keystone combination worthy of the name. The new team captain will run things from second base and across the bag in the shortstop berth will be Eddie Farrell, last year's regular and a former team mate of the slugging ex-Giant.

At Third Corner.
Little Doc Gautreaux probably will be switched from second base to third base to compete for that position with Andy High, while Eddie Moore, last year's guardian of the hot corner, probably will become an outfielder rather than reserve material, due to his 300 hitting ability.

The outer garden patrol will be chosen from Lance Richbourg, Moore, Jack Smith, next to leading hitter of the squad a year ago, and Earl Clark who was purchased for $15,000 from Richmond last year. With Moore, Brown and Burrus in the line-up, the Braves can present an entire team of 300 hitters, exclusive of battery men, on the basis of last year's averages. Such an outfit would include: Hornsby, .361; Burrus, .318; Jack Smith, .316; Farrell, .316; Richbourg, .308; Brown, .306, and Moore, .301. High also enters the select circle with a .302 average.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Anxious to avenge the 52 to 37 defeat of 1927, the Indiana University track team will invade Chicago Saturday for an indoor meet with the University of Chicago harriers and field men.

Adopting the policy used in outdoor meets for two years, Coach Staggs announced there would be no admission charge to track meets at the University. Interest in the sport is more to be desired than limited gate receipts, said Staggs.

Indoor Tennis Meet

Montreal, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Stars from the United States, headed by George Lott, of Chicago, will compete in the Canadian covered court championships at the Montreal Indoor Tennis Club next week. Lott won the event last year, taking the title.

BE SLENDER and Fashionable

Fat and fad are mortal enemies. You can't be stylish and fleshy. The two don't go together. But there is no need to be stout. You can have the slender figure which fashion demands, and what's more you can have it

WITHOUT CHANGE OF DIET OR UNNECESSARY EXERCISE

I am a licensed New York Physician. For years I have specialized in obesity and have treated thousands of men and women overburdened with excessive flesh. I prescribe for my patients so that their general health will be improved as well as their weight reduced. Will you take advantage of my great offer?

FREE TRIAL TREATMENT AND VALUABLE BOOKLET

Know from actual experience that my treatment will help you as it has helped thousands of others. Read what a few patients say:

MISS O. WHITLOW writes: "I have lost 76 pounds as result of your treatment and have never felt so well in my life as I do now."

MR. S. SANTER writes: "I have lost 70 pounds as a result of taking your treatment. I feel better in every way. I can now take long walks without becoming tired or short of breath. I thank you very much for what you have done for me."

MRS. E. BATEMAN writes: "Have taken your treatment and it is wonderful how it reduces. It does just as you say. I have reduced a pound a day and feel fine."

MRS. ANNASCHMIDT writes: "I weighed 175 pounds before I started your treatment and I now weigh 138 pounds. You may print this if you like."

Always remember that fat is dangerous. Your very life is threatened by excess flesh. Get rid of that fat now. You'll feel better, look better and live longer. Write now, this minute, for booklet and Free trial treatment.

SALESMEN WANTED

Due to a program of expansion we have openings for men of character who believe that they can sell.

Character and the willingness and ability to work ten hours a day mean more to us than previous experience. There are many very disagreeable features about this work—however—the compensation is far above the average and the future is exceptionally good for the men who make good.

Our products are all of the very highest quality and are unconditionally guaranteed to give satisfaction to the purchaser. The security behind this guarantee is a first-class rating in Bradstreets and over half a century of satisfactory service.
